Workshop

Natural Experiments and Controlled Field Studies

June 11-13, 2010 – Holzhausen (Ammersee)

The aim of the workshop is to bring together leading researchers and, in particular junior, researchers from the SFB/TR 15 who use natural experiments and controlled field studies to identify causal relationships in empirical work. We invite submissions that focus on applications of this methodology to all fields of Microeconomics relevant to the SFB.

The workshop will take place June 11 –June 13, 2010 in Holzhausen (Ammersee) at the Bayerische Verwaltungsschule (BVS).

In context of the SFB's strive for gender equality, we would like to point out the possibility of bringing along your children to the workshop. We will provide child care on the premises.

All members of the SFB/TR 15 interested in presenting are invited to submit papers falling in the relevant area. In addition, we invite younger researchers who may not yet work in the field but are interested to participate. There will be plenty of scope for in-depth scientific interactions between junior and senior researchers. All papers and applications should be submitted no later than February 14, 2010. Accepted participants will be informed no later than March 19.

Submissions (title, abstract, and an electronic version (pdf) of the paper) and applications should be sent to sfbtr15@lrz.uni-muenchen.de.

Reimbursement: We will cover the costs for travel, accommodation, and conference participation (including meals) for all presenters and participating SFB members.

Local organizers: Florian Englmaier and Georg Gebhardt
